Subject: Remove all Genetically Engineered Foods from Market
Sensitivity: Personal

I believe it is becoming apparent that the US policy in regard to producing, labeling, and selling Genetically Engineered foods is being called in to question all over the world. Rightfully so! Since there are definitely many unknown risks to consuming genetically engineered food the American public should not be used as Guinea Pigs by the food industry no matter how much they pay for the privilege.

No genetically engineered foods should be allowed in the marketplace until proven safe singly and in combination, for several generations. Those foods already in the marketplace should be recalled. The issue of labeling those foods is irrelevant if the foods are not out there to begin with. Labeling is better than nothing- but it is not nearly enough.
